Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 19,-Josder of John G. Morrison, a grocer, and his son Arling, was executed by shooting at the state penitentiary here to-day. Under the Utah law he was allowed to chose between shooting and hanging.

At six this morning Governor Spry and members of the board of pardons received telegrams from Seattle, eph Hillstrom, convicted of the mur-

A similar message was stated to have been sent to President Wilson. When the officers came to get Hills strom he broke down and started to struggle with them, but when he saw the sheriff he calmed down and threw up his hands. Accompanied by the officers he walked o the death chair. After he was seated, he was asked if he had anything to say. He said: "Gentlemen, I die with a clear conscience. I never did anything wrong in my life. I die fighting, not like a coward. Well. I'm going. Goodbye."

When the officer started to give the command to fire, Hillistrom yelled: "Fire!" The squad fired, and the bullets pierced his heart. He was dead in one minute and ten seconds after the volley was fired.

President Wilson twice appealed for further respite for Hillstrom and the Swedish ambassador also intervened. The president's second request, made yesterday, was denled by Governor Spry as not based on any new facts.

Fields, Supplying Food of the Armies Protecting Nation.

Clermont-Ferrant, Central France, Nov. 15.—The women of France have gathered the crops this year, while their sons and brothers are fighting at the front, and they are big crops. The harvest is just closing, the barns in this vast farming region are fairly bursting with wheat, oats, hay and a multitude of farm products, and the fields are stacked with the straw-covered yield of potatoes, carrots, beets and vegetables of all kinds—all these crops a tribute to these Spartan peasant women of France who in a way are fighting the country's battle just as much as the men in the trenches. For three days sa correspondent of The Associated Press has passed through 800 miles of this farming region, under escort of army officers assigned by the Ministry of War, primarily for the purpose of seeing the thousands of German prisoners gathered in from Champagne and elsewhere, but incidentally giving the opportunity of seeing these French peasant women cultivating the fields, driving the oxen for the fall ploughing, picking, sorting and shipping fruit, and gathering in the stores of vegetables and tobacco.

Women were to be seen everywhere bending over the furroughs or with panniers on their backs carrying the heavy loads of carorts and turnips; on top of straw-ricks pitching the grain into place or loading it on wag-ons; 'in the freight' yards near the the heavy loads of carorts and turnips on top (of straw-ricks pitching the grain into place or loading it on wagons; in the freight yards near the stations bringing in the farm products and storing them on flat-cars; and in long irregular companies along the road at night going home from work with their dogs, wheelbarrows, babies and armsful of fagots.

In one 30-acre fletu of turnips five sturdy matrons were at work and one young woman, with an old graybearded peasant, evidently the father, in a chair under a sheltering tree with the baby beside him. He was too old for the fighting line or for this other warfare of the women in the fields. Further along a great, sweep of fields was dotted with knots of women gathering potatoes into bags, and then throwing the filled bags over their shoulders to carry to the waiting carts. Each group of women had a yoke of oxen and cart. They were heavy-set, square-built women, like those painted oy Millet, with coarse aprons and black dresses girt up to their knees, usually bare-headed, but at times with the big white head-gear, typical of this Auvergne farm country.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 19.—One more day nearer to the grave.

On the spot representing the third of December on a little calendar, Peter Skribner, death cell prisoner in the Ohio penitentiary here, has marked a star. At the close of each day, he puts a mark on the calendar, each one crawling nearer and nearer to the dreaded star.

Time and again as he points to this calendar, he mumbles to the guard in broken English, "Electric Chair."

A little over a year ago Skribner worked for and lived with his only living relative, an aged mother, in Odessa, Russia.

He wanted to come to America to make good" and returning make his mother bappy for her remaining days. He managed by hard work to get a few hundred dollars to send him to America. At Toledo he met a woman, who, through promises of marriage, took nearly all his money and then illied him.

In a jealous rage, Skribner shot and slightly wounded her. When Detective Kaiser Bartecki attempted to arrest him, Skribner shot and killed him.

Since his arrival at the pen, Skribner shot and killed him.

Good Vaudeville Offering.

The Apollo is offering its usual good vaudeville bill this week with four worth while acts.

Frominent on the bill is Miss Martha Da Mert, who makes her vaudeville debut under flying colors. She has a beautiful voice and a charming manner that won for her considerable appliance last night. Miss Da Mert is popular here, having been heard on previous occasions. Her rendition of classical and popular melodies was equal to any single act which has favored the Apollo stage.

The Gregorys, in their original and novel comedy and whistling act, introduces Frances Meek Gregory in her laughable conception of those funny girls of the hills of southern Missouri. It is an unusual act and good.

"Hern and Rutter appear in songs and grotesque eccentric dances that were quite a novelty. The Arthur Young Trio are excellent musicians who win applause in a generous quantity.

SATURDAY'S GAMES TO END IMPORTANT GRIDIRON TILTS

Harvard-Yale Game the Classic Event of the Season Despite Defeats. Two Big Western Games, By Strikes,

Tomorrow will see the close of the 1915 football season, which has been unusual in many ways, from past years. In the first place, a team not one of the "Big Three," Harvard, Yale and Princeton, will share in the champion honors, as all three named have been beaten.

and Princeton, will share in the champion honors, as all three named have been beaten.

The climax of the football season will come whon Harvard meets Yale. The season has been one of the most wierd the east has seen in years, for Cornell and Pittsburg are considered champions. But no matter if Harvard and Yale lost every game on their schedule, which Yale came near doing, the annual age worn scramble between the Crimson and the blue is the classic of the gridiron battles. It is THE game of the season.

Harvard by all figuring should win, despite Yale's reversal of form against Princeton, in which she took advantage of the Tiger mistakes and won.

against Princeton, in which she took advantage of the Tiger mistakes and won.

With Percy Haughton's big Orimson oleven with their man-siezed wallop in good trim, football critics do not concede but a lucky chance for Yale to win. Eddie Mahan is a whole team to himself with his 190 pounds of wirking twisting, swirling football ability, with a well educated right too. There is, however, small chance that the New Haven men will have much chance to profit by Harvard's mistakes for Haughton does not teach his warriors to make mistakes. It will take more than a mere knowledge of fundamentals to beat the Crimson team and stronger ends to stop the versatile Mahan or Knight.

Cornell is idle Saturday but on Thanksgiving play Penn, which should be easy going for the Big Red leam. Last Saturday they slumped and had to stage a last ditch fight to win their game, but Penn. is very weak this year. Syracuse goes up against Dartmouth and the former is expected to win. Pro" Charges Are Made Against Eddie Mahan, Harvard Star.-Badgers Rehearse Plays.

Taps were sounded today before the big games Saturday, and the one feature was the alleged charges of being a "pro" made by Yale against Eddie Mahan, the Harvard captain and star halfback which may be not forward. halfback, which may be put forward tonight by Yale officials. Mahan denied the allegations and the outcome is watched with interest as Mahan is the best hope of the Crimson, being their chief point getter in kicking and also in field running. He is the brains of the eleven.

The particular of the lad and select his clothes in our boys' department.

That more interest is being taken, in football this year than in any season since the adoption of the forward cass and tenyard rule in 1906 is shown by attendance at the various struggles. Even where some of the contests were not of championship importance they attracted thousands of spectators. This increase in attendance can be accounted for in part by victories of supposedly weaker teams over the elevens representing the larger institutions. The showing of Virginia, Lehigh, Washington and Jefferson, Brown, and Pittsburgh this season against the supposedly stronger elevens has increased the interest 50 per cent_over that of last year.

DEFENDS THE RIGHT. Prof. S. K. Hornbeck of the university, who lectured before the Women's History club of this city on Saturday last, has come out in defense of the United States' right to trade in the munitions of war from the standpoint of international law. In a recent lec-ture before a university audience, Prof. Hornbeck said in substance, that "The essence of neutrality consists in refraining from actions which assist directly or indirectly either of the nerligerents. The United States has a set of penal laws for its guidance in uch cases that have been developed through much legislation and experione in such matters. Since the penal distinguish it from last year's when laws give the chief executive the pow-er to prevent any act which would violate the policy of neutrality, President Wilson has been perfectly justified in preventing the use of the United States ports as bases for either of the belligerents. The question of using neutral ports as bases has been the cause of the keeping of certain ships in the American ports."

PROSPERITY'S LID.

Charles F. Logan, in Leslie's Week-iy, says that four men are now sitting upon the 11d of prosperity in the United States. These four men constitute the majority of the Interstate Commerce Commission. This majority has the power to make or break the railroads of the United States. As a desult of the decisions of the majority, the railroads are near the breaking point, as one-eighth of all of them are in the hands of receivers. They are forced to make enormous but the law of supply and demand has been nullified with reference to their revenues. It is not denied by anyone that freight rates are lower in the United States than in Europe, but every effort made recently by the railroads to fix rates that would be remunerative and in line with good business practice has failed. The recent western the great water was the contractions of the state of the research water and the state of the cent western rate case was typical. The roads received about one-sixth of what they asked and needed, and the reason why they failed to obtain justice was because one or two roads, in the past, had been mismanaged. Two of the commissioners, handing down dissenting decisions, inferen-tially called attention to this fact. These two commissioners were James S. Harlan and Winthrop More Daniels. The balance of the commission, which dealt the blow at the aiready crippled railroads, is composed of Judson C. Clements, Edgar C. Clark, Charles C. JcChord, Baithasar H. Meyer and Henry Clay Hall. The only public or private experience that Harlan has ever had was as a larger or description. ever had was as a lawyer and as attorney general in Porto Rico. Danattorney general in Forto titco. Daniels was a professor of political economy at Princeton. Clements was a lawyer and member of congress. Clark, back in 1873, was a railroad conductor and later was an official of the Order of Railway Conductors of the Order of Railway Conductors of America. McChord was a lawyer and member of the Kentucky legislature. He represented that state in a number of rate cases. Meyer was a professor of political economy in the University of Wisconsin. Hall was a lawyer, lecturer on law in the Colorado college, and for a time was general counsel for the Arkansas, Louisiana and Gulf Railway company. In other words four lawyers, two professors and one railroad conductor other words four lawyers, two pro-fessors and one railroad conductor are now running the railroads of the United States. POLITICAL RESULTS IN SOUTH AFRICA DISPUTED.

Capetown, South Afroca, Nov. 19.—
The Nationalist newspapers point out that General Botha's victory in the recent elections is not as sweeping as most persons believe, inasmuch as he will be unable to maintain his government without a coalition with either the Nationalists or the Unionists, it is said, is impossible because of differences in regard to domestic policy.
The situation is obviously a delicate one, and it is being carefully gone over by the Botha leaders. It is tolerably certain, however, that General Botha will met Parliament with a Ministry substantially the same as the present one, leaving the question of a coalition to be settled in the light of future developments in Parliament. Evansville, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Joseph Shively, for thirty-five years a resident in on near Evansville, died this morning at three o'clock at her home on.
Madison street, this city.
Mrs. Shively's maiden name was Miss Delia Lamb. She was born in Edgerton in 1856, on October 1st. On August 11th, 1878, she was united in marriage to Joseph Shively of Evansville. She leaves a husband, two brothers, J. M. Lamb of Evansville and Edward Lamb of Chicago, and the following sisters: Mrs. David Thomp-SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTEL son of Brooklyn; Mrs. Charles Murphy of Augusta, Wis.; Mrs.s James Brown of Zion City; Mrs. Fred Eggleton of Dakota; Mrs. F. Kendell of Los Angeles, California.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at two-thirty o'clock at the home. Hev.

D. Q. Grabill will officiate. Interment will take place in the Maple Hill cemetery.

The Christian Endeavor social of the Baptist church, which was to be held at Mrs. Sadie Jones' this evening, has been postponed.

NOTICE!

Miss McAllister will not hold her dancing school and social hop Mon-day, November 22 as was announced, as she has accepted a position to dance in Chicago on Friday and Mon-day.

But she will have her next dance and school a week from Monday, November 29 in the Assembly Hall.

On the Spur of the Moment ROY K. MOULTON

Can You Pick 'Em? Can You Pick 'Em?
When they're walking close together,
Ali regardless of the weather;
When they see no passerby,
And they do not even try;
When she whispers to the fellow.
In a voice that's sweet and mellow,
And she hangs onto his arm
In a manner full of charm;
When he helps her o'er the curbing,
And from jolts that are disturbing;
When they're out upon parade
And he's tender to the maid;
When they're acting somewhat spoony, when the spoony,
And are talking language looney;
When he is a gallant knight,
You can bet your hat, all right,
They're Engaged.

When along the streets they scurry, And he yells at her to hurry, When he's fifteen feet ahead, And no useless words are said; when he yells are snappy; And her replies are snappy; When he pauses to relate: "Damn it, Mag, you're always late;"

When at every corner crossing
There is pulling, hauling, bossing;
When he looks distinctly peeved,
And she looks as though she's grieved;
When they dodge about and stumble; When they slip and slide and tumble Just because they are in haste, And they have no time to waste,

They're married.

No bachelor maids, no culture clubs

No suffragets, no cigarets, no cooking that was vile;
No bonnets trimmed with cocoanuts and lettuce were in style;
No brainstorm shooting by a weak and sentimental churl;
No talk of soul affinities when grandma was a girl. They're married.

Thinking in "Blobs."

Dr. Frank Gunsaulus declares that Americans think in blobs, and ""

"He is right about it," interrupted the Old Codger in the Kansas City Star. "The man who differs with me as to how to stop the war, who attempts to overset my theories on politics, religion and the weather, who hasn't any more sense than to call a wet moon a dry one, who falls to share my apprehension of the awful abyss toward which this country is drifting—in short, any body who doesn't agree with me—merely thinks in blobs, and the blobs are very far apart. Doc What's his name is correct!" Been trying to think of that word for a long time.

Grandma.

A stunning creation is this walking suit of checked velour designed for fall wear. The coat of the model is three-quarter length with the bottom of it falling into a flare. Its deep roll collar is luxuriantly trimmed with beaver and deep cuffs of the same fur are used with good effect on the sleeves. The coat fastens with two large buttons. The skirt is of medium width and reaches to the shoe tops.

That fully 25 per cent of the accidents to workmen are caused by insufficient lighting for men working at night, is the opinion of experts who have made a study of the subject. It is estimated that $250,000,000 is the average cost of injuries to workmen in the United States alone, and that more than 50 per cent of these accidents are preventable.-Popular Me-

Popular Star Seen at Majestic in Striking Production.

Striking Production.

Striking Production.

The story that won Ellaine Sterne the $1,000 prize in the New York Sun's scenario contest makes a memorable picture; "The Sins of the Mothers," as picturized by Ralph Ince for the Vitagraph Company is indeed a production that holds the closest interest and leaves a deep impression on the memory.

It opens with a thrill that is sustained throughout. The role of Trixie, the girl who has inherited passion for gambling, is faultlessly played by Anita Stewart, and Earle Williams appears as her husband, who wages such a valiant fight to cure her of her mania. Others in the cast who deserve special mention for their artistic work are Julia Swape Gordon as the mother, Lucile Lee as the temptress, and lovable old Mary "Mother" Maurice as the servant. Although of a different nature, the production is entirely up to the standard of the other pictures of this aeries already shown at the Majestic, and it is easy to see why the higher admission charge is necessary.

It has its last showings tonight.

Amusements

The merry melodious musical comedy, "Lady Luxury," with the original New York Casino Theatre cast and stunning chorus, will appear at the Myers Theatre, Friday, Nov. 19.

"Lady Luxury" is the joint work of Rida Johnson. Young, who wrote "Naughty Marietta," "The Lottery Man," "Brown of Harvard," "Mother Machree," etc., and the music was composed by William Schroeder; who wrote the score of "When Love Is Young" and is of the school of Friml and Luders.

Among the twenty odd musical song hits are, "When I'm With You." "Dream on My Princess" "Written in the Book of Destiny," "When I Sing in Grand Opera," "Longing for You." "That Rag-Tag Dance," "Pick a Pickininny." "Kiss Me Once More," "Fit There, Buddy" "Dancing with the Ciri From Home," "Those Awful Tattietales" and "Lady Luxury."

The symphony orchestra will be under the personal conductorship of Signor A. DeNovellis.

With a cast of comic opera favorites all well known to local theatregoers, it will be readily admitted that they are all of grand opera callbre.

Florence Webber, who plays the title role, will be remembered as the late star of "Naughty Marletta."

Forerest Huff created a most favorable impression with local play-goers for hir excellent work as Bumerlie in "The Chocolate Soldier" Mr. Huff has appeared in such successes as "The Belle of Bond Street" and "The Merry Countess."

Another well remembered favorite is Arthur Albro, who won stellar honora in "Grays Lowe" land extravaganza, "The Tig-Tog Man of Oz."

Emily Fitzroy was formerly leading woman for Sir Charles Wyndham of the Criterion Theatre, London, and later appeared with Grace George, Mrs. Fiske and William Collier.

Sam J. Burton on his last appearance here had a leading character role in "The Littlest Rebei."

No expense has been spared by the producers in equipping this dainty musical play with as stunning a chorus as ever left New York and each and every one will be gowned in the latest creations of Lady Duff Gordon.

Anita Stewart in the $1,000 Prize
Drama Now Showling.

Knowing that "The Sins of the Mothers" is the story that won the New York Sun's $1,00 prize in a contest in which there were nearly four thousand entries, you will naturally expect much of the picture. And knowing that Anita Stewart and Earle Williams play the leading roles, your expectations will be even higher yet. And you will not be disappointed.

"The Sins of the Mothers" is a wonderfully constructed drama. It takes an absorbing theme and treats it in a telling way. Beautiful Anita Stewart never appeared to better advantage than in the role of the heautiful society girl, who inherited a passion for gambling. Her admirers must rejoice at the opportunity of seeing her in this production.

It is shown for the last times tonight at 7:30 and 8:50, although those coming in by 9:15, will see the whole picture.

THE TABLE.

Red Cabbago (Danish recipe) —
Take a medium sized red cabbage head. Remove outside leaves, slice very fine. Boil with as little water as possible and about half a cup of butter and a little vinegar, about three hours or until soft. Put in about a teaspoonful salt and about two cups sugar (according to taste) and a little more vinegar if needed. A little strawberry or currant jelly added gives it a good taste. If you have a fireless cooker, let cabbage come to a boil on stove, then put it in cooker and let cook from eight io ten hours, or over night if preferred. This is very fine with meat and potatoes and a favorite among the Danes.

This is very fine with meat and potatoes and a favorite among the Danes.

Green Pumpkin Recipe—Cut green pumpkin in fine pieces, add a little salt, let stand one hour, then put on to stew; add one tablespoon butter (use no water); when nearly done cook one tablespoon of flour with one of butter (do not brown) and add to pumpkin. Lastly add half plint sour cream and serve.

Kidney Bean Salad—One can kidney beans, one plint water; season with salt, pepper and butter. When beans come to a boil, add sugar and vinegar and thicken with flour. A little onion sliced makes it good.

Favorite Cake — Put in cup one-half tablespoon melted butter, add unbeaten egg and fill cup with milk. In a pan put one cup flour, one cup sugar, one teaspoon baking powder; add butter, egg and milk; stir well. Bake as loaf or two-layer cake.

Pour half into cake tin, add tablespoon of cocoa to remainder, stir well, pour over first half, and you have marble cake. Add hickorynuts for nut cake. For white cake, use whites of two eggs and any kind of flavoring. Add two tablespoons of cocoa for devil's food. If large cake is wanted double the amount.

Turkish Delight — One package gelatin; soak in one cup lukewarm water, then add four cups sugar and half cup water. Boil ten minutes, add, nine tablespoons or orange julce, five tablespoons lemon juice and grated rind of one orange. Cock ten minutes longer. To this add one cup chopped walnut meats, pour into buttered pans and let it stand over night. Cut into squares and roll in powdered sugar. Keep in a cold place.

Cranberry Sauce— One quart cranberries, one quart water, two pounds sugar; stew slowly.

Chicago Chapter of the D. 0. R. here Thursday.

"Cotton growers," he said, "lose $100,000,000 a year by the boll weevil. Why? Because the prairie chickens, meadow larks and other birds, which were formerly there in millions, have been swept away by thoughtless, reckless men and boys.

"Cinch bugs cost wheat growers $100,000,000, he said, and the Hessian fly $200,000,000.

"It takes 24,000 cinch bugs to weigh an ounce and nearly 50,000 Hessian flies to weigh the same," continued the speaker. "A quali in Ohio had in its craw 1,200 chinch bugs. Another killed in a Kansas wheat field had 2,000 Hessslan flies."

Colone! Shields added that potato growers pay $17,000,000 a year for Paris green, and remarked that a quali in Pennsylvania had 126 potato bugs in its craw. He said Mrs. Margaret N. Thirty-Three Years of Happy Wedded Life Comes to Grief Out in Monroe.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

in Monroe.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Monroe, Wis., Nov. 19.—Thirty-three years of constant companionship, never separated twenty-four hours, day or night, came to an abrupt end yesterday, when Peter and Mary 29. Jenny, well known and prosperous residents of Monroe township, appeared before District Attorney Samuel A. Blum. It was a case of:

"Draw up the papers, lawyer, and make 'em good and stout,
"For Mary and I are crosswise, and Mary and I are cut."

Mr. and Mrs. Jenny have been man and wife for the past thirty-three years and are the parents of two children, a daughter, who is married, and a son, who has grown to manhood. Together, during that period they have worked side by side on the farm, sharing each others pleasures and foys. Both were lovers of home and they never left home, only to do their weekly trading with an occasional mid-week trip to attend the weekly prayer meeting.

According to the information gathered by District Attorney Blum, there would be no grounds for a divorce, until the couple had resided apart for a year or longer when a charge of desertion might be brought by one or the other. Neither party had serious complaints to make against the other, but neither would agree to the suggestion of the attorney that they should take a trip together to some distant place or plan on enjoying themselves a little more.

Court officials are inclined to the belief that the case is without parallel in Green county. Predictions are ventured that within a short time lonesomeness will result in bringing the couple together and no divorce action will ever be necessary.

TAX RATE IS LOWER IN CITY THIS YEAR

COUNTY, STATE AND CITY RATES COMBINED ARE LOWER THAN 1914 RATE.

RATE WILL BE $13.77

County Rate Is $1.93, State Tax $1.47 and City $10.37 for Each $1,000 of Assessed Valuation.

of Assessed Valuation.

Janesville property owners and taxpayers will pay taxes this year at the rate of $13.77 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation, which is 27 cents per thousand dollars less than last year, because of the decrease in the state and county rates over last year. City Clerk: J. P. Hammarium this morning received the certified statements of taxes to be collected in the ry of Janesville for the county and tate, and immediately the city officials started preparing the tax roll, by proving them, for collections starting next month.

The state rate this year will be $1.47 per thousand dollars and the county rate $1.93, and the city rate decided upon recently is $10.37, Last year the rates were as follows: State, $1.80; county, $2.38, and city $9.86, and a total city tax rate of $14.04. The cuts accomplished by the state and county counteract the small increase in the city tax rate this year.

In the city of Janesville the amount increase in the city tax rate this year.

In the city of Janesville the amount to be raised for county purposes is $15,338.77 plus a county school tax of $11,327.92, making a total of $29,666.69. The amount to be raised in state taxes is given as being $22,613.74, and the city budget amounts to $159,713. The total tax levy is $211,993.42.

City, Clerk Hammariund stated this morning that they would not have the individual tables of taxes against pieces of property until about December at tenth: Figuring that the tax cless are prepared at this time and a correct balance is obtained, collections will start on or about the fifteenth of December and continue until February first, after which the two cent penalty for delinquent payments is charged. The city officials express a satisfaction at the low (ax rate and feel confident that it will be lower than that of the other Wisconsin cities.

Two years later, when he was a senior, he took the principal role in the all-college Greek play, Oedipus Rex. It was his performance really which made possible our first production of a Greek play outside our own city. Several alumni who saw the play given here were so interested in it that they made it possible for us to stage it in Central Music hall, where it was seen by 2,000 of the leading citizens of Chicago.

"That performance, especially Charley Wood's work in it, created an unusual impression in Chicago. The morning papers gave their leading columns to reviews of the plays and stories of Charley Wood's career. Capable critics declared that the negro boy's work was as fine as that of any professional who had essayed the Work."

Following that, Wood had many offers to join professional theatrical companies. Instead of accepting, he studied for three years in a theological-seminary in Chicago and then went to Tuskegee as librarian and teacher of English literature. young forest ranger, and in less than it takes in the telling these two keenwitted Westerners, the woodsman and the soldier, were ready to grapple with the enemy. Light-marching kits were dumped upon the ground and the hard-muscled men took to the hills and the timber under quick, decisive orders. Two hours later wagons arrived with commissary supplies and the smoky, blackened valby took on a military air.

It was a Titan struggle, and it was indicative of the force that has conquered nature-the human atoms tolling in semidarkness beneath the threatening forest, choked by the smoke, flayed by the almost unbearable heat, menaced by the flames that at any moment might sweep here or there among the rocks and declivities

Out in the valleys beyond, the heavy smoke had obscured the setting sun entirely. Over the crest of the Coast Rauge it had spread up to the heavens, drifted afar on the changing wind and all the distant valley of the Willamette knew that the forest fires were burning in the hills.

The papers throughout the state told of it that day, and it awakened no more interest than would have attended the announcement of a heavier run of salmon than was usual in the Columbia.

They were too common, those fires that sported with the national wealth each year, too much a part of everyday life, and they did not know that this was to be a marker of time in the coast country.

Time was when they were unknown, these monsters of destruction-a longpast time it was, when those first for-

The reason Foley Kidney Pills act so satisfactorily is because they neutralize and dissolve the poisonous waste matter that remains in the blood because the kidneys do not do their work properly in filtering and casting out from the system uric acid and other poisons.

Relief usually follows in a few days and such symptoms as pain in the sides or back, stiff joints, sore muscles, rheumatism, too frequent action of the bladder at night, and other painful and annoying allments disappear. High against the dun. smoke-light-ened sky the dark canopy of the East Belt whispered and moaned as if in fear, and from time to time Sandry, a haggard, grim-lipped specter of a man, lifted his bloodshot eyes toward it. It was still his own, his future of the valley beyond the dip. Dillingworth, despite the tangle of Hampden's threats, the unrecorded deed and the unfinished trail of the sugar pine fell with a rending roar, Yellow Pines at the south, and it pulled at his heart pathetically.

There was still a stretch of almost impenetrable timber near the summit of the big ridge which must be cut through before the flames reached it, or all would be lost.

"Shall we make it, John?" asked the owner desperately of Daily, who ran by in the smoke with wet rags to tie over the mouths of the men. "Ought to if the wind stays where

It was two o'clock and that hour in the sleeping world outside when all the elements are at an ebb.

Then, all suddenly, Destiny laughed. And Destiny's laugh was a whooping wind that rose as the elemental ebb-tide turned. Hell broke loose upon the land and heaven was not. Fire encompassed the world. Its increased roar changed to the thunder of the spheres. It appalled the hearts of men, stayed their hands in fright. All throughout the darkness of rolling smoke wherein they worked between the raging torrent and the East Belt that mighty voice commanded cessa-

Instantaneously, without orders, as one man where there was no communication save between those a few feet apart, they dropped their spades, their tattered blankets, their axes. They straightened from their labor, leaving the cross-cuts in the trunks. Here and there, above the solemn thunder hoarse voices began to call. It was the time to quit and they re instinctively.

He lifted des-perate eyes to the ridge whose dim crest he could see between the boles, so near had they won to victory. men, working like a fury to fell the saplings, was Murphy, who had greeted his pompous "Dillingworth" with such grinning irony in the old days.

He had a moment's vague wonder at this odd stripe of humanity that could hold such prejudice, fight with Hamp-den's men in savage enmity, to join their ranks later with happy irresponsibility at the call of gold, and was still willing to turn back to fight with him on death's brink, because he had returned their taunt of East and West.

One by one, in silence, in a tension that drew the skin tight on their faces, they saw the last remaining monarchs fall, the kindling saplings laid on earth, the trench, much narrower and shallower, creep upward to the ridge.

Against time, against heat that scorched their bare arms and tortured their starting eyeballs, against a stifling atmosphere that drove them nearer and nearer to the earth for breath, they drew the last blade, sent the last big pine crashing toward the he cried, "even though it is a crown fire and coming fast, I think our trench will hold it."

With all confidence he turned to the south. Instinctively the men had drawn in behind him. The neck of the East Belt was a wavering wall of flame. He whirled and glanced back along the fall and the trench. Long streamers of flame were licking across it. The half-looked for had happened, The little bunch of fighters were hemmed in, ringed around by fire. Death faced them on every side. Then, as the owner sent a searching

"Here!" he cried, "here! Into it! Every man of you. In, I say! At the crest of the sheer ridge an old, abandoned tunnel gaped in the gloom, a dim haven of refuge. Its mouth was overhung by vines, its recess mysterious in the blackness. Sandry sprang to its edge and turned back for the men to pass. They stood, a small, silent bunch, gazing in wordies: constarnation at the red canopy.

"Now how in hell did it get across the fall?" said Collins hoarsely. But one by one they stooped and entered the small black hole in the earth. It ran backward into the ridge, scarce the height of a tall man, its floor uneven with the heaps of earth fallen from the roof since some long forgotten prospector had carved it.

Here for a moment they breathed more easily, standing close together, a sweating, panting, waiting mass of humanity. Sandry stood at the mouth, the last to enter. He looked out in toward him and start on Again he hushed amaze at the unchained madness of the burning world. The great fire had reached its zenith. It came pooming and roaring to the fall and the trench. Its sound was indescribable. The heat grew until the flesh on Sandry's arms and face rose in blisters. A sheet of flame shot sheer across the tunnel's mouth. Smoke rolled into it and here and there a gasping breath ended in a moan There was no air to breathe. Like trapped animals the men jumped here and there, feeling for an opening, a crevice to crawl into, away from the agony of heat and suffocation. And then they lost control of themselves.

"My God" cried Murphy shrilly, "I can't stand ut! Let me out an' I'll die afi' get ut over!"

He came groping to the entrance, facing the increasing heat. His face was a madman's, his mouth open, his fingers crooked like talons. But at the mouth, that was as the gate of hell, he met the Easterner, a straight figure against the light beyond.

"No," said Sandry sternly, "go back and lie down;" (TO BE CONTINUED.)

PROLOGUE.

All over the country there has peen the liveliest interest among boys and girls in scientific farming. In "Joe, the Book Farmer," there is samply and delightfully told what goin' to get a jug of the real old red one boy, who made a scientific eye on th' noon train, an' me an' him study of farming, accomplished. Intensive cultivation as practiced by this young student worked wonders with the soil.

Besides Joe, who is the central figure, there are introduced by the author several other familiar and quaint characters in country life. to city and country folk alike.

CHAPTER I.

Joe, the Book Farmer. W 'tain't no use. A poor man ain't got no chance in this danged country. If I had enough money to move on I'd go to Oklahomy."

Tom Weston thus delivered himself after taking his year's crop of cotton to town. When he finished "settling ED" for the twelve months' advances of provisions, clothing, fertilizer and feed for his two scrawny horses, with 10 per cent interest on the whole amount, in addition to the three bales of cotton as rent he had to pay for the dilapidated farm he occupied, he was still in debt.

Tom Weston had never owned a foot of land, and he was forty-six years old. His father had never owned a foot of land and died in debt at the end of a long life, the scant proceeds of his misdirected labors going always to others

Joe Weston, fourteen years old, had the same unhappy prospect stretching down the years for him-a slave in the chains of circumstance, and nothing but toil, always for others. For his portion, existence and the privilege of Joe had come to town with his father on settling day. He hoped that when Mr. Weston finished with the Somerville Mercantile company, or the company finished with him, there would be money enough for a pair of real store trousers and a new hat and a pair of stout boots with bright copper bands on the toes. For four years now Joe had worked in the fields with his father, and Mr. Weston had promised him the shoes and hat and clothes this year for helping.

In the spring Joe dropped the cotton. seed in the furrow. When it came up he handled a hoe and helped "chop out" the surplus plants. Then came on the bitter fight with weeds and crab grass to give the little cotton stalks a The last year Joe had been given a light plow, and he plowed the Then, along in the middle of September, he and his mother and little sister Nell helped pick it.

After all the cotton had been picked, Joe. ginned and sold Joe was allowed to go o school, from November until the last of February, for in March the plows were started to going again.

Why don't you diversify a bit, Mr. Weston?" inquired John Somerville "You'd be better off if you did. Instead of planting all cotton, why not try some oats and corn, an acre or so of yam potatoes, raise a couple of pigs for mest, put in a good garden and cut our expenses down?" M. Then it was that Mr. Weston made the remark about moving to Oklahoma. A shade of impatience fitted over Mr. Somerville's face.

'You're dead wrong there, Tom. There's more in the man than there is in the land. The trouble is with you, Tom, not the country or the land are just too lazy to learn improved methods, and you are no different in that respect from thousands of other farmers in this country. You won't learn anything." Y-a-a-s. I've hearn a heap about this

"If we don't know nothin about it how we goin' to start?" inquired Weston, thinking he had Mr. Somerville. "There's an agent of the United States department of agriculture and he state commissioner of agriculture over at the courthouse right now for the purpose of conferring with you farmers of this county. I'll bet there are 300 farmers in town today, and not twenty-five will have interest enough to go and listen to these gentlemen."

"Aw, shucks! What does a little dood from .Wash'n'ton or up to the capital know about farmin'? I've done forgot more than they'll ever know.' "There you are; you don't know what gan Weston. "I'll tell you what I'll do, Tom; Pli just let you off one bale rent and take four acres for Joe and me to experiment on if we want to." "That's a trade," grinned Weston. "But how about the time he takes fooling with you-all's projects? His time belongs to me." Mr. Somerville looked at him in cold scorn for a moment, then at the eager, bright face of the boy. "Dad, ain't you never goin' to give me a chance? I go round dressed in your castoff clo'es, I work like a nig-ger, an' now when I want to learn somethin' an' try to make more at farmin' than you have you don't seem to want to let me." His eyes filled with tears.

"Weston, of course he's your boy and you have the legal right to his services, but you are making a serious mistake in the position you are taking."

It was done in a few minutes, the document providing that Joe's services were sold to John Somerville for one year from date for $100; that said Weston bound himself to interfere in way with any experimental or planting operations carried on by said boy and J. Somerville and to turn over four acres fronting on the public road to said boy and release all rights to any crop the said Joe Weston might make.

Now. Tom Weston, I think for the last fifteen years I've heard you complain that you 'couldn't get out of debt' and the wonders you would perform if you ever did. According to our books, you owe us $160, part of it three years old. My contract for Joe calls for $100. I'm going to do better than that and pay you $160. I've wiped off the books. You don't owe me a cent"

"Thank you, sir."
"Now, listen! You and Joe are even. I'll bet you a hat that I can take a fourteen-year-old boy and on four acres of land farmed like sense and industry and the books say, we will make more profit off these four acres than you will make off the twenty you pretend to cultivate.

REFORM IN AMERICAN PRISON ATTRACTS MUCH ATTENTION IN JAPAN

[BT ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Tokio, Nov. 19.—The experiments in prison reform conducted by Thomas Mott Osborne, warden of Sing Sing prison, New York, have attracted ittention in Japan, not only because the Japanese, are always keenly interested in the social movements of the west, but for the special reason that a system for self-government similar to that which is being tried at Sing Sing was followed in the prisons of Tokio as far back as the year 1650. It is intimated that if Warden Osborne's Sing Sing experiments succeed, there is a possibility that the self-government scheme may be inaugurated, or rather revived, in Japanese prisons.

Land and other reforms were pledged.

Numerous and wealthy relatives of Madero supported Carranza's revolt. Northern Mexico united to recruit Carranza's army. From Sonora Pancho Villa stepped out upon the stage of Mexican politics. He and his outlaws enlisted under Carranza.

Villa was appointed a general of the Division of the North. General Alvaro Obregon was head of the northwestern corps. In a spectacular campaign, Villa headed captures of Juarez, Chihuahua and finally Torreon, one of the bloodiest battles. Afterward Zacatecas fell. During 1913-14 the Constitutionalists fought almost to Aguas Callentes.

Meantime President Wilson had refused Huerta recognition. CARLOADS OF GOLD BULLION LIKE ORE

Decision is Expected From Federal Court Over Disposal of Freight of Gold From Mexico. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Chicago, Nov. 19.—A ruling was expected today from Federal Judge Carpenter in the injunction proceedings against the Rock Island Railroad by the Compania Explotrado, a Mexican Mining company, which seeks to prevent the road from disposing of nine carloads of gold bullion, now in its yards here. Ten days ago a temporary injunction was issued and today's ruling will either make permanent or dissolve the writ. The Mining corporation alleges the bullion, the value of which has been estimated at from $100,000 to $2,000,000, was stolen from the Little Nica mine in Seneca by Gen. Villa's prother and fiscal agent, and others are named in the suit

What It Costs Not to Be a Christian

ture himself? It is folly to think that one can live in God's world and achieve success, and yet disoby the laws of God.

Remember that money and popularity and power do not constitute success. One may have all these and yet be a consummate failure. The true object of life is to know God's will and do it, and the Christies soul misses that completely.

4. Not to be a Christian costs the loss of heaven. The penalty of having one's own way here, is to be consigned hereafter to a place where or erycone has his own way, which is hell. That is what makes it hell. Heaven way, but all delight to do God's will. That is what makes it hell. Heaven and even if he had, he could not enjoy it. Heaven would be hell to one who is not heaven. The Christiess soul must prepare to part forever from all his dear ones who have chosen Christ; his mother who taught him to pray, his faithful wife, his children have long been beckoning, to woo him home to heaven. When Dwight L. Moody died he looked up and said. "Is this dealt? If so, it is glorious. Earn who taught him to pray, his faithful wife, his children whose little hand have long been beckoning, to woo him home to heaven. When Dwight L. Moody died he looked up and said. "Is this dealt? If so, it is glorious. Earn who taught him to pray, his faithful wife, his children wors little hand have long been beckoning, to woo him home to heaven. When Dwight L. Moody died he looked up and said. "Is this dealt? If so, it is glorious. Earn who taught him to pray his faithful wife, his children wors in opening. God is calling me." Instead of this welcome, the Christiess soul will hear the said wors. "Oppart from me."

Yes, it does cost something to be a Christian will cost you the loss of your soul. It will cost you the loss of your soul. It will cost you the loss of your soul it will cost you the loss of your soul of the conditions have been provided the oracles of God's heaven. "What shall it profit a man if he gain the world world and lose his own soul?"

Pleasant Fields of Holy Writ

The Young People's Devotional.

Service.

November 19, 1915. Psalm 67, 1-7
THE WAY IN WHICH GOD WANTS

TO BE THANKED.

(Thanksgiving Meeting.)

A lively sense of the imminence of God is indispensable to a truly thankful spirit. One cannot thank an abstract principle or feel grateful to an impersonal law. One must believe that God is, that he is near, that there is a personal immediateness in his dealings with us before there can be genuine gratitude. We are only now rediscovering what the patriarchs knew millenniums ago—the imminence of God. When flock increased or pasture and water was found, they cried, "It is the Lord that hath done it! Bless his name!" Save for my daily range Among the pleasant fields of Holy Writ, I might despair. -Tennyson. The International Sunday-School Lesson.
